of the best, purest and most influential men in the land.

From January 1, 1879, we had in Tennessee seventy-nine deaths. Among these was the death of Brother W. E. Ladd, one of the founders of the order in Tennessee. Be was for three years an active member of this Grand lorge.

The Supreme lorge at its last session, realizing the necessity of some action for our order from the negligence, carelessness and ignorance of medical examiners, enacted general law XIX, providing for the appointment of State medical examiners, defining their qualifications and prescribing their duttes, and also defining the qualifications of medical examiners of subordinate lodges. Under the provisions of this law the Supreme dictator has appointed Bro. William Batte, of Pulaski, State medical examiner for the State. Brother Batte is an able physician, a conscientious and honorable gentleman, and has the interest of our noble order at heart as much as any man in its limits.

I am opinion that much trouble and delay—possibly litigation—would be avoided in the payment of death benefits, if all benefits of the control of the care of

A great deal has been done in this direction in Memphis, and doubtless the fight will be kept up until frosts ccms again. So it should be in New Orleans, and, in fact, in every southern city. A fever epidemic this year in New Orleans and Memphis would be very damaging, not only to those cities, but very damaging not only to those cities, to every ther part of the south." FOR WHITE AND BLACK RIVERS. MILT HABRY LINE.
